

A serene landscape featuring a body of water in the foreground that reflects the surrounding trees and a clear sky. The trees have autumn-colored foliage in shades of yellow, orange, and green. The water is calm, creating a clear reflection of the scene above. The text is overlaid in the upper portion of the image.

John 17:05 And now, O Father, glorify thou me with thine own self with the glory which I had with thee before the world was.
