

A close-up photograph of several vibrant purple flowers, likely petunias, in a garden. The flowers are in various stages of bloom, with some fully open and others as buds. The background is filled with green foliage and dark soil, creating a natural, textured setting. The lighting is bright, highlighting the intricate vein patterns on the petals.

Psalm 37:39 But the salvation of the righteous is of the LORD: he is their strength in the time of trouble.