

A close-up photograph of a garden scene. In the center, a vibrant orange and black butterfly is perched on a bright yellow flower. The flower has several petals and a visible center. Surrounding the flower are lush green leaves and stems. In the background, there are more yellow flowers and some small purple flowers, all slightly out of focus. The ground is covered with dark brown mulch. Overlaid on the image is a block of text in a white, serif font.
