

A close-up photograph of a red rose, with its petals showing delicate textures and some water droplets. The rose is the central focus, filling most of the frame. The text is overlaid on the upper portion of the rose.

Ecclesiastics 07:01 A good name is better than precious ointment;
and the day of death than the day
of one's birth.