

A close-up photograph of green leaves, likely from a vine, covered in numerous small water droplets. The leaves show signs of being eaten, with several distinct holes and some discoloration. The background is a soft-focus green, suggesting a garden or vineyard setting.

Lamentations 04:17 As for us, our eyes as yet failed for our vain help:
in our watching we have watched
for a nation that could not save us .