

A vibrant field of flowers, including white daisies with yellow centers and bright red carnations, set against a lush green background. The scene is brightly lit, suggesting a sunny day. Overlaid on the image is a white text box containing a Bible verse.

Matthew 25:15 And unto one he gave five talents, to another two, and to another one; to every man according to his several ability; and straightway took his journey.