

A close-up photograph of several vibrant pink roses in full bloom, set against a dark green background of leaves. The petals are layered and show some natural spotting and texture. The text is overlaid in white, bold, sans-serif font.

Isaiah 57:01 The righteous perisheth, and no man layeth it to heart: and merciful men are taken away, none considering that the righteous is taken away from the evil to come .