

The background of the image shows a pond with reeds and green foliage. The text is overlaid on this background in a white, serif font. The text is centered and reads: "Genesis 09:15 And I will remember my covenant, which is between me and you and every living creature of all flesh; and the waters shall no more become a flood to destroy all flesh."

Genesis 09:15 And I will remember my covenant, which is between me and you and every living creature of all flesh; and the waters shall no more become a flood to destroy all flesh.