

A field of orange tulips with white text overlaid. The tulips are in various stages of bloom, with some fully open and others as buds. The background is a soft, out-of-focus green.

Acts 21:34 And some cried one thing, some another, among the multitude: and when he could not know the certainty for the tumult, he commanded him to be carried into the castle.