

A close-up photograph of a large, vibrant red rose. The petals are layered and show some darker red variegation. The background is dark and out of focus, showing green leaves and other roses.

Exodus 12:29 And it came to pass, that at midnight the LORD smote all the firstborn in the land of Egypt, from the firstborn of Pharaoh that sat on his throne unto the firstborn of the captive that was in the dungeon; and all the firstborn of cattle.