

A sunset over a body of water. The sun is low on the horizon, casting a golden glow across the sky and reflecting on the water. A dark silhouette of a building is visible on the horizon line. The text is overlaid in white, bold, serif font.

Isaiah 59:05 They hatch cockatrice'
eggs, and weave the spider's web:
he that eateth of their eggs dieth,
and that which is crushed
breaketh out into a viper.