

A close-up photograph of several roses in shades of pink and orange, set against a dark green background. The roses are in various stages of bloom, with some fully open and others as buds. The lighting is soft, highlighting the delicate texture of the petals.

Numbers 01:20 And the children of Reuben, Israel's eldest son, by their generations, after their families, by the house of their fathers, according to the number of the names, by their polls, every male from twenty years old and upward, all that were able to go forth to war;