

A close-up photograph of several purple and pink flowers, likely morning glories, with green foliage in the background. The flowers are in various stages of bloom, with some fully open and others as buds. The background is softly blurred, showing more green leaves and stems. The overall scene is bright and natural.

Psalm 119:69 The proud have forged a lie against me: but I will keep thy precepts with my whole heart.