

A close-up photograph of a white lily flower in full bloom, with its six petals spread wide. The center of the flower shows the stamens and pistil. The background is filled with other lily flowers and green leaves, some of which are out of focus. The lighting is soft, highlighting the texture of the petals.

Hosea 02:08 For she did not know that I gave her corn, and wine, and oil, and multiplied her silver and gold, which they prepared for Baal.
