

Isaiah 37:18 Of a truth, LORD, the kings of Assyria have laid waste all the nations, and their countries.

A large, vibrant orange-red flower, possibly a rose, is the central focus of the image. It is in full bloom, with many layers of petals. The background is a soft-focus field of numerous smaller purple flowers, creating a sense of depth and a natural setting. The lighting is bright, highlighting the textures of the petals.