

A close-up photograph of several vibrant red flowers, likely lilies, with green stems and leaves visible in the background. The flowers are the central focus, with their petals showing detailed veining and texture.

Matthew 18:08 Wherefore if thy hand or thy foot offend thee, cut them off, and cast them from thee: it is better for thee to enter into life halt or maimed, rather than having two hands or two feet to be cast into everlasting fire.