

A close-up photograph of a yellow lily flower, likely a Daylily, with several water droplets on its petals. The flower is in full bloom, showing six petals and a central stamen. The background is dark and out of focus, highlighting the flower's vibrant yellow color and the texture of its petals. The text is overlaid on the upper portion of the flower.

Matthew 10:16 Behold, I send you forth as sheep in the midst of wolves: be ye therefore wise as serpents, and harmless as doves.