

A close-up photograph of a pink rose in bloom, with its petals showing delicate veining. The rose is the central focus, with soft green leaves visible in the background and foreground, slightly out of focus. The lighting is natural, highlighting the texture of the petals.

Hosea 14:08 Ephraim shall say , What have I to do any more with idols? I have heard him , and observed him: I am like a green fir tree. From me is thy fruit found.
