

A close-up photograph of a bouquet of flowers. The central focus is a tall, vibrant red spike of flowers, possibly a cockscomb, which is surrounded by several large, fluffy pom-pom flowers in shades of yellow and white. The background is softly blurred, showing more of the bouquet and some green leaves. The text is overlaid in the upper left quadrant in a white, serif font.

Job 06:21 For now ye are nothing;
ye see my casting down, and are afraid.