

A sunset scene with a bright sun low on the horizon, casting a golden glow over a body of water. The sun's light creates a shimmering path of reflection on the water's surface. In the foreground, the dark silhouettes of trees and bushes are visible against the bright sky. The overall atmosphere is serene and peaceful.

Mark 02:04 And when they could not come nigh unto him for the press, they uncovered the roof where he was: and when they had broken it up, they let down the bed wherein the sick of the palsy lay.