

A close-up photograph of a bouquet of flowers. In the foreground, there are several bright yellow flowers with dark centers. To the left, there are pink flowers with multiple petals. To the right, there are purple flowers with yellow centers. The background is softly blurred, showing more of the same flowers and green leaves.

Genesis 48:19 And his father refused, and said, I know it , my son, I know it : he also shall become a people, and he also shall be great: but truly his younger brother shall be greater than he, and his seed shall become a multitude of nations.