

A close-up photograph of a large, multi-petaled yellow rose. The petals are numerous and layered, creating a full, rounded shape. The color is a bright, sunny yellow. The background is dark and out of focus, making the rose stand out prominently. The text is overlaid on the upper portion of the rose.

Psalms 78:39 For he remembered that they were but flesh; a wind that passeth away, and cometh not again.